We Won't Forget

Concerning the recent lynch trial in Greenville, S. C., Thomas Wofford, principal defense attorney, says, "I wish everybody would forget about it and leave us alone." But everybody won't forget. An increasing segment of responsible white southerners won't forget; the United States, which would be an international champion of minorities, won't forget; and our caustic foreign critics won't forget.

Attorney General Clark hasn't forgotten. He has referred to the Greenville verdicts as an outrage. A fair trial is of no value if the evidence is disregarded in rendering the verdict.

A North Carolina Negro has escaped from a lynch mob and surrendered to FBI representatives. This probably would be an example of the "outside meddling" referred to by the Greenville defendants' counsel. Some southerners no doubt would have preferred to handle that case "in their own way," as they so neatly put it, but it is out of their hands now.

Lynching isn't exclusively a southern problem but in the South more than anywhere else it has had official connivance. Unless the South can establish a system whereby justice is assured for lynchers, the states will lose such cases to federal authority. Punishment of mob action, which deprives a man of his life and civil rights guaranteed under the Constitution, can certainly be written into federal law if need be.

Security Begins At Home

President Truman's request for New-World defense is more likely to be granted by Congress this year than it was last year. The United States has been jarred into the dismal realization since the Act of Chapultepec was adopted at Mexico City in the spring of 1946 that hemispheric defense may need to be more than a wistful theory in the brave new world that isn't turning out to be much different from its predecessor.

In other words, security still begins at home. There is no less to hope for from the United Nations than there was when Congress refused to let Mr. Truman go ahead with hemispheric defense a year ago, but most Americans now see that cooperative security itself is a wishful thought. Even hemispheric security continues to be a wishful thought, as far as that's concerned.

Security in the New World has been a chief concern of this country since 1823 when the Monroe Doctrine was declared. This government declared then that the American continents were closed to "new colonial establishments."

There has been a long struggle to carry out this policy against the interference of various European governments. Mr. Truman's present recommendation for legislation to back up the policy with a program of military collaboration is one more step toward the American security that has never quite been attained. When World War II began, the United States had to be concerned with the possibility of Axis attacks from South America. Military collaboration would decrease the possibility of Latin American republics coming under the influence of some other aggressor nation, or conspiracy of nations.

A sentence in the Monroe Doctrine says: "It is only when our rights are invaded or seriously menaced that we resent injuries or make preparation for our defense." That has been true for 125 years. There have been no wars of conquest launched from the Americas. The American republics have fought only in their own defense.

Mr. Truman asks the 80th Congress to do what the 79th Congress refused to do—increase the margin of hemispheric security. A Congress which has given him permission to carry out a "Truman Doctrine" in Greece and Turkey can't very well deny him permission to continue the Monroe Doctrine in the New World.

The Tobacco Standard

Since the Germans are so avid for American cigarettes as a medium of exchange, it is humorously suggested that instead of shipping them 400,000 tons of wheat we send them a shipload of tobacco ingots. These would be deposited in German banks and notes issued against them to replace the depleted German currency.

A buyer well supplied with cigarettes can go through the German countryside picking up cheeses, hams, sides of beef and a great variety of other foods that marks never bring out of their hiding places. Only a fraction of the German farmer's potential food-producing capacity is being realized because he has no incentive to increase production and no great desire to part with what he does grow. Dangle the right carrot in front of the donkey and the farm cart will start rolling again.

If tobacco is what's needed to put German economy back on its feet, let's ship it. To Gresham's Law and the other maxims evolved by economists, let there be added one to the effect that tobacco can be a more satisfactory monetary standard than a precious metal if the people would have it so.

A generally favorable and gratifying state of affairs is predicted from propitious aspects of the major planets. All works of merit and lasting worth should flourish under the benignant recognition of elders, superiors, or old established institutions, ready to confer tokens of esteem and promise for work well done, duties and obligations faithfully met.

Aim at sound goals for future security and rich rewards. The creative and emotional urges may also bring happy or glamorous contacts and satisfactions, with possible curious angles.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a pleasant, promising and progressive year, in which there is likely to materialize the long-cherished fulfillment of work well done, obligations and duties faithfully met and appreciated. Elders and old institutions may be ready with solid recognition and rewards, with long-term benefits and security assured.

The romantic, family and social ties and aspirations are also due for fruition, with a glamorous, intriguing or curious twist, stimulating and dramatic. Spiritual values are not lost sight of, but beware any show of delusion or subtlety.

A child born on this day should possess sound and faithful proclivities, attaining reward and recognition for loyalty and merit. Its emotional and creative faculties may beckon the alluring, subtle and glamorous.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Avoiding Toxemia of Pregnancy

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
PERHAPS the greatest danger to the expectant mother is the possibility that she will develop a condition known as the toxemia of pregnancy. In this disorder there is a marked increase in blood pressure; body tissues become waterlogged and swollen; there are vomiting, prostration and, sometimes, convulsions, coma and death.

Knowing the dangers of toxemia, doctors are always on guard against the condition, but in the past, unfortunately, they have not always been able to prevent its developing.

We do not know its exact cause, but during recent years research has led to a belief that lack of proteins in the diet may have something to do with it.

Preventing Toxemia

More recently still, Dr. Ralph Luikart of Creighton University has done much to show ways in which toxemia may be prevented in the vast majority of cases if not entirely eliminated in all.

His plan consisted chiefly in regulation of the diet so that each expectant mother under his care ate during her pregnancy relatively large amounts of protein while cutting down drastically on starches, sweets and other foods of high caloric content.

Limited Total Increase

In this way he limited the total increase in weight during pregnancy to 16 pounds, with the maximum gain in any month held to two pounds. All patients were held to this rule and each was impressed with the fact that the scale and not her appetite determined how much she should eat.

This, of course, meant careful planning of the diet. In addition, attention was given to good general hygiene including regularity of the bowels, ample rest and suitable exercise.

An effort also was made to be sure that the patient consumed enough proteins from such foods as meat and milk. Meat or fish was eaten once a day, and liver twice a week in those cases where there was no reason to limit its use.

One or two eggs were included daily as vegetables. They had one of the citrus fruits or tomato juice for breakfast to provide vitamin C, and one serving of cooked fruit or canned fruit without heavy syrup later in the day.

Successful weight control during pregnancy depends on the treatment during the first seven months. If the weight gain is not properly controlled during that time, a sudden large weight gain is likely to occur during the last two months, due to the retention of fluids in the tissues. If a patient gains more than a pound in two weeks, there should be a reduction not in the proteins and cooked vegetables, but in the amounts of such foods as ice cream, candy, pastries, cereals and potatoes.

One thousand women who followed this weight control program throughout their pregnancy, remained well and not one case of toxemia of pregnancy developed. Thus it would seem that a diet of this type does have value in preventing this serious disorder of pregnancy, the extra safety it gives being well worth the extra effort of both doctor and patient.

The State Dept. wants to ship high octane oil refining equipment to Russia to fuel their plants to blast us off the map in the near future if they can and last but not least our government scheming for lower prices and at the same time spending billions yearly in subsidies to keep prices up. If we pay subsidies to keep prices up then in all fairness let's pay or guarantee workers and business and industry a fair and living wage to meet these high prices.

Then if we do that it's good-by to free enterprise and we will then have either communism or a fascist state.

$7,000 PICTURES

Editor, The News:
I note in reading dispatches that our generals in Berlin have pictures costing around $7,000 hanging on their walls. Since when did our generals acquire such expensive tastes?

It took 21 veterans drawing $2,000 a year and taxing them 17 per cent to buy those pictures. Also the Veterans housing program is shelved. How about that $7,000 to build one a house? The brass hats in Washington in their budget. I wonder how many pictures they want to buy out of their present budget. Do these brass hats think money grows on trees here?

It's about time they woke up. We have fished up 15 billions of dollars and gave it away since the war ended and screwball Henry Wallace wants us to shovel out another 50 billions.

Noted also in a miners journal that one group of miners are working six days, nine hours a day and the British are working five 8-hour days. Note also that the French are restoring their wine crop pretty fast. If the French want to drink themselves to death it's O. K. by us but why run to us to feed them all the time. Would suggest they plant crops instead of grapes. Instead of our officials in Washington worrying so much about our lend lease accounts and foreign countries' ability to pay up, I would suggest they worry about the American taxpayers' ability to pay his taxes here and how much longer we can take this.

It's a wonderful picture isn't it? Our brass hats with $7,000 pictures on their walls but no money to build veterans homes.

British coal miners' 40 hour week, American 54 hours, and we give them coal to live on. Why not let them work 54 and us 40 hours?

The French growing grapes for wine and we ship them food to eat.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, May 28 — Two national health bills now in congress are of vast importance to a great many people in this country.

One was offered by Democrats, one by Republicans. The two are very different.

A senate committee has started hearings on them. It's a late start. Don't expect congress to vote either into law this year.

Action may come in 1948. That's a presidential election year and a national health program would make a great campaign issue.

The fight over a national health bill is an old one. This is the story to date.

The Democrats, led by Senators Wagner of New York and Murray of Montana, have been offering health bills in congress since 1939.

Except for committee hearings, at which hundreds of people talked for and against the bills, nothing has happened. Congress hasn't voted.

President Truman, in 1945 and again only a week ago, urged congress to lay down a long-range health program.

Now, with national health becoming a bigger issue, the Democrats and Republicans have offered separate bills.

These Republican Senators offered one bill: Taft, Ohio; Ball, Minnesota; Smith, New Jersey; Donnell, Missouri.

These Democratic senators offered the other bill: Wagner, Murray, Pepper, Florida; Chavez, New Mexico; Taylor, Idaho; McGrath, Rhode Island.

Briefly and briefly, this is what the bills would do:

The Democratic Bill
This would provide pre-paid medical care for most Americans through a 1 1/2 per cent tax each on employees, employers, and self-employed.

They'd pay nothing for care beyond the money taken from them already by the tax. Doctors and hospitals would send their bills to the government.

The Democrats think the government would take in $3,000,000,000 a year from the tax to pay the bills.

The patients would get doctor's care being free to choose their own doctor plus hospital care, and so on.

Doctors and hospitals wouldn't have to join if they wanted no part of it. They could stay strictly in private practice.

This Democratic bill, with some changes in the old Wagner-Murray

Win Honors At Goshen High

Stryfeler

Steer

Stryfeler, besides ranking top in his class in High school, took part in the Junior and Senior class plays, the High school opera, won the speaking contest and was treasurer of his class this year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stryfeler of R. D. 2, Salem.

Steer actually ranked ninth in the state in Latin grades. He ranked first in his division and third in all classes in the previous northeastern Ohio tests in Latin I. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Steer of Damascus.

bill is often called by opponents the "socialized medicine" bill.

This is the bill which the American Medical Association opposed, although not all doctors are against it.

The Republican Bill
This would provide medical care for people who couldn't pay for it.

The states, with the help of $200,000,000 from the government a year and putting up $200,000,000 of their own, would run this program.

So, in short, it would help the states do more than they're doing now. Of this country's 140,000,000 people, how many would it take care of?

Republican Senator Smith says about 20 per cent, or 28,000,000. Democratic Senator McGrath says only four per cent, or 5,500,000.

Smith, calling the Republican measure a "voluntary insurance bill," the American Medical Association approves it in "principle."

The Democrats call the Republican bill strictly "charity" and say their own is better because people, taxed, would be paying for what they got.

The Republicans call the Democratic bill "compulsory" insurance.

There the fight, a big fight, stands. It's coming up too late in this session of congress to be fought out this year.

Study Rain of Death If A-Bomb Was Set Off In Storm-Cloud

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 28—Scientists are weighing the possibility of exploding an atomic bomb in the midst of storm clouds to create a literal rain of death.

The advantage of this technique, experts studying the plan told a reporter today, is that a city far inland could be drenched with radioactivity without the necessity of exploding a bomb under water, as was done in the Bikini experiments.

Until now, coastal cities or those near large rivers or lakes were the most probable targets for such type atomic bombing.

There is, however, a definite potentiality that the very power and heat of the bomb might foil the plan.

Some scientists contend that a bomb exploded in a cloud bank might first blast the cloud away and then dissipate its moisture high into the air and away from the target.

But proponents of the idea say it would be necessary only to watch the drift of weather toward a target and select a day when rain clouds several thousand feet thick were floating overhead. Radar would pick up the target for the bombing plane, and the bomb would be exploded in the thick of the storm. Rain falling from the clouds would be poisoned with the deadly by-product of the bomb's explosion.

The use of radioactivity in this manner would be aside from previously reported plans for spraying a target area with radioactive material released from an airplane.

Military strategists also are eyeing rainclouds in connection with another recent scientific discovery the creation of artificial snow or rainstorms by the release of "dry ice" or solid carbon dioxide into clouds.

Airmen see military value in the dry ice technique if it can be developed to the point where a whole cloud mass can be turned into water and precipitated.

If aerial photographic reconnaissance of a future target is prevented by a low cloud accumulation, they say, the clouds could be "swept away" or a hole punched in them to permit the reconnaissance plane to make its picture.

MANSFIELD, May 28—Connors-ville, Ind., authorities today notified the Mansfield reformatory that Galen Briscoe, 20, of Hamilton, O., one of six prisoners who kidnapped a guard-instructor while escaping Monday, was recaptured there last

Sheriff Oscar Haag reported at Connorsville that two companions with Briscoe, believed to be James escaped city police.

Haag said he was told that Briscoe and his companions separated from the three other fugitives when Briscoe decided to visit his mother, Mrs. Hobart Akorn, who recently moved to Batesville, Ind.

Indiana State Police Cpl. Fred Forst radioed Connorsville police the fugitives were headed there when he passed a car resembling one the escapees reportedly had stolen. A police cruiser met the fugitives' car.

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 28—To come home for a family reunion in the Middle West this time of year is a thing to make you feel years younger for a while. But it doesn't really last. The reason is that the seasons keep on changing—but you don't. The trees grow on skyward, and so do the children. And that is a hard thing to bend yourself to. You don't mind your friends and brothers being a bit older and grayer, but you hate to admit you're in their company too. You think you should stay with the young folks.

And as for your mother, uncles and aunts who are the mainstay of the family—well, all of a sudden they seem to belong to a strange but familiar tribe. The dances they go in for are out of the familiar past but most of them aren't the kind of up-to-date bunny hugs that your daughters go in for. That is, if you have daughters.

So there you are, a kind of unhappy link between two generations. You know as the turkey sandwiches go round that you are sort of midway between the generation that ruled the roost and the one that is about to take over. You kind of belong to both and don't quite belong to either. The old folks think you are too young to be one of them, and the young folks think you are just a bit too sedate to belong to their crowd.

At least that is the way I felt the other day when I came home to a family reunion after some years. The old folks hadn't changed much—I have in self-defense to put myself with them—but the young folks. Well, that was a different tribe.

Of course, the difference didn't show up all at once. We had the usual big food-stuffing interlude. This time it was a 30-pound barbecued turkey supplied by brother Eddie.

But when we were kids someone always tossed us a dollar bill and said for us to go to the nickel movies. This time the kids stayed—and eventually took over the family show.

Mom and Uncle Mike and Martin, Aunt Annie and Leora, told the old family stories, and then my sister-in-law Monica gave the kids their chance. She played the piano and cousin Danny's boy sang "Adeste Fideles," and all of a sudden we realized that after three generations in America—spent in digging coal, selling groceries and practicing the law—the Boyle tribe had finally come up with a genuine tenor voice.

We thought that was something new, but then Uncle Mike struck up "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," and brother Johnny, who got his hand shot loose from a machine gun in Okinawa, bounced up with the lead. Then we weren't quite sure whether we had something new in the family or not.

The trouble with our family is that they generally all have a lot of kids, and each dad or favorite uncle likes to think he's got a boy or girl spotted who has more on the ball than anyone else has ever brought to bear for America. In our slow Irish way we're a helluva patriotic family, like his old Danish friend of mine who just patted me on the back—"Red" Ulricksen—and told me that Rex, his 23-year-old son, has made the college basketball team. The fact Rex flew a navy torpedo bomber during the war doesn't make any difference. What American family had a boy who didn't?

Somewhere a little enthusiastic for his years said, "well, each generation we're in this country we turn out somebody a little better than his dad." I thought that was pretty good—and so did the rest of us third-generation Americans in the family—until Uncle Martin Boyle, my father's youngest brother, turned to us and said:

"Your dad had four boys and you rule the roost now. But that's because your dad is gone. Which one of you actually thinks he's as good as your dad?"

And all the idea of progress went out of us, and all we could think of was the dead man who once gave us life and was better than all of us put together in a week of country Sundays. We all have a hunk of him—but he had us all beat, take us one at a time or together. That's what our sister says, and a girl's the best judge. Mom won't get in the argument.

Detroit Moves Into Secure First Place On 4-2 Victory

CHICAGO CUBS TAKE OVER 1ST IN NATIONAL

Branca Shows Home Town Folks With Brilliant Job of Hurling

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Detroit whipped the Indians 4-2 yesterday. Al Benton's triumph was important inasmuch as it came over the great Bobby Feller and increased the Tigers' first-place lead in the American league to four full games over the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox. After Benton had allowed three hits and one run in seven innings, O'Neill took no chances and relieved with Hal Newhouse.

The Chicago Cubs took over first place in the National league last night when they inflicted the first night defeat of the season on the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-3 while the New York Giants were bowing to Brooklyn at the Polo grounds, 7-3. Ralph Branca, a native New Yorker, had one of his good nights, holding the Giants to seven hits and striking out 16 before a crowd of 51,780 fans, largest ever to witness a National league night game. The big blow of the game was Pee Wee Reese's three-run homer.

After three failures, Johnny Sain finally gained his fourth victory of the season as the Braves took a 7-3 decision from the Philadelphia Phillies in a night game at Boston. Boston Red Sox snapped a four game losing streak stopped the Philadelphia Athletics' run of eight victories at seven with a 4-2 triumph at Philadelphia.

Washington ended a five-game Yankee winning streak, overcoming a 4-0 Yankee lead to defeat the New Yorkers in a night game at Washington, 5-4.

Lanky Ewell Blackwell gave Pittsburgh four hits as Cincinnati romped to a 6-1 victory over the Pirates. Young Cliff Fanning shut out the Chicago White Sox with three hits as the St. Louis Browns split with the Chicagoans. After Bob Gillespie pitched the White Sox to a 5-2 win over Jackie Kramer and the Browns, Fanning came back to shut out the White Sox 2-0.

Mel and Buster will form the Salem pitching and catching combination, despite an ankle wound to Pitcher Wukotich. INDIANS SLIPPING AS FELLER FAILS TO COP SIXTH WIN

Hitless Bats Puzzle Fans As Tribe Balked 4-2 In No. 2 Tiger Try

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT May 28—The skidding Cleveland Indians were looking today for a few king-sized hypodermics to inject a little hitting serum into their baseball bats. Suffering their third straight defeat yesterday, the Tribesmen finally snapped their scoreless innings streak at 19 but were topped by the league-leading Detroit Tigers, 4-2. Bob Feller, beset by wildness in the first frame, yielded three runs and eight of the Tigers' 10 hits during a six-inning stint as he suffered his fourth loss against five victories. Reliever Al Gettel permitted an unearned Detroit run in the eighth.

In the middle of his worst slump of the year, Tribe Left Fielder Pat Seery extended his hitless streak to 16 straight appearances at the plate and fanned for the 30th time in 26 games during the Indians' promising eighth inning rally. With two out in the seventh, the Tribe crossed the plate for the first time this week on Lou Boudreau's walk, plus Ken Keltner's third single and Pinch-Hitter Les Fleming's double. Detroit Hurler Al Benton ended the rally by forcing Hal Peck to fly out with the bases loaded.

Southpaw Hal Newhouse yielded the second run in the eighth on Boudreau's double and singles by Eddie Robinson and Joe Gordon. Detroit tallied a pair of "lucky" runs in the first when George Kell's pop fly fell safely for a single after two were out. Plating the third run with a one-bagger in the sixth after Dick Wakefield's triple, the Tiger third sacker also scored an unearned marker on George Metkovich's error in the eighth. Red Embree, who has won three of six starts this season, takes the mound for Cleveland today against Dizzy Trout as the Tribe attempts to salvage the final two tilts of the four-game series.

White Plains, N. Y.—Billy Kilroy, 158½, Paterson, N. J., outpointed Jimmy McDonough, 150½, Brooklyn, 8.

Just In Time To Stop Softball Games!

Punching the time-clock like a well trained worker, Old Man Weather arrived two minutes before game-time Tuesday at Centennial park to again put a halt to softball activities in Class A softball. A neat little downpour, just enough to make the fields unplayable even if things had cleared up, washed away games in the American, National and Class B loops. The weather now has eight games in each loop to its credit, a better mark than any of the teams in either league. Oh, well, it's a long summer.
